

Living Well
North Tyneside
Supporting Health and Wellbeing

Station Master's Community Wildlife Garden

A community garden in the heart of Whitley Bay, right next to Whitley Bay metro station.

The garden is regularly used by community groups for activities and horticulture. Our most important visitors are, of course, the array of wildlife including bees, slow worms, hedgehogs, birds and the occasional fox.

We welcome all members of the local community who would like to get involved: to help in the garden – roll up your sleeves and get involved, or just enjoy being within it; sitting and contemplating, exploring, and appreciating nature.

n/a stationmastersgarden@gmail.com

The Station Master's Community Wildlife Garden,
Clarence and Waterford Crescent,
Whitley Bay
NE26 2DZ

www.stationmasterscentre.org

@TheStationMastersCommunityWildlifeGarden

@stationmastersgarden

Last Updated - 20th September 2023

Services

No Services

Events

No Events

Activities

No Activities
